Veteran Services

America is privileged to field the best-trained military force in the world. However, some veterans find their skills don’t immediately transfer to civilian life. Interfaith’s wide array of veteran programs utilize proven practices to improve the dignity and health of our nation’s heroes. Our purpose is simple: Return our veterans to the honor and dignity of a healthy, stable and productive life.

Employment Training

Interfaith offers free employment trainings for veterans that are homeless or are at-risk of homelessness. Opportunities include occupational trainings, apprenticeships and on-the-job training programs that help veterans upgrade their current skills and either obtain a job, or receive a promotion in their current position.

Transitional Housing

Interfaith’s transitional housing program provides between one and two years of housing for homeless veterans. Along with housing, veterans engage in comprehensive counseling and case managed services. The shared goal of the transitional housing program is to empower veterans to regain stability and secure their own permanent housing upon program completion.

Recoverative Care Program

Interfaith’s Recoverative Care Program provides emergency housing and support for veterans exiting local hospitals and recovering from an illness or injury. Located at the newly renovated Hawthorne Veteran and Family Resource Center in Escondido, the program houses 20 homeless veterans and 12 homeless non-veterans at a time, and also provides access to comprehensive counseling and case management.
