Additional Details:

- Interfaith confirms that the day laborers are eligible to work in the United States. Additionally, all day laborers have completed a health assessment.
- Employers must pay employees directly. Interfaith merely acts as a service provider connecting both parties.
- Interfaith does not charge for this service, nor do we get involved with the exchange of money.
- Interfaith will ask for feedback from employers on the employees.
- Interfaith requests that employers complete the attached Limit of Liability agreement. This needs to be completed once a year.
